Would Effect Probate Judge.

A bill has been introduced in the South Carolina legislature by a member of the Richmond county delegation, which would require that all parties desiring marriage licenses in South Carolina be required to give five days' notice of their intention to secure said license.

If this bill becomes law it will enable the Probate Judges on the border counties to have a considerable sum in the way of license fees. Numbers of people from North Carolina come to Chester to secure marriage licenses and to marry and such a law in South Carolina, it is thought, would cause many of them not to come here.

The Chester county records show many North Carolina couples and in a year's time the amount collected by the Probate Judge in license fees and for marrying will amount to a considerable sum.

Edward Durham, who pitched ball for the Chester high school team last summer, left yesterday for Mobile, Alabama, where he will be given a try-out on the Mobile team. His many Chester friends are hoping that he will be able to make the team.

Officials of the National Union Bank of Rock Hill, receiving the Citizens Bank and Trust Company, also of that city, which closed its doors January 29th, have announced that depositors will be paid at least seventy-five per cent of their deposits. The depositors are now being extended loans to the amount of forty per cent of their deposits.

"Rose Timp," a home talent play, will be given in Chester March 4th. This play is sponsored by the Chester Dramatic League, and is known to be a humorous, romantic and colorful farce. Miss Williams, coach from the Wayne County Dramatic League, of the Atlanta, Ga., will have complete charge of all rehearsals, and an attractive play is anticipated.

The P. C. G. Club and Orchestra will be sponsored by the Girls' Basketball team for their Chester appearance, the performance to be given at the high school auditorium March 1st at 8 o'clock. The Columbia audience is expected to be the best program the Club has offered in several years. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents, grammar grade students being admitted for 16 cents.

The News in receipt of a private report advising that considerable plowing has been done in parts of Texas, Alabama, and South Carolina, for the purpose of adjoining for this year's cotton crop and present indications are that the acreage in that section will only be cut from ten to fifteen per cent, notwithstanding the fact that the Department of Agriculture has advised a reduction of from 25 to 30 per cent.

Fertilizer sales at this year are reported as 47 per cent less than for the same period last year.

Mr. S. C. Clinton, Chester representative of The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, was among those who attended a banquet given by the company at the Hotel Charlotte last Wednesday evening.

The chief speaker of the evening was Dr. Les Brankel, second vice-president of the company. The Metropolitan was today the largest financial institution in the world, recently passing the Bank of England in resources.

Mrs. Dan Davis was called to Spartanburg yesterday afternoon on account of having received a message stating that her father, Mr. J. Frank Coplin, had received a fall and was considered as being in a serious condition. Mr. Coplin is 75 or 80 years of age.

Announcement has previously been made that tax returns would have to be made by February 20th, in order to avoid a penalty of fifty per cent. It has been found that the legislature last year changed this law, which was signed by the governor March 23rd, 1926, and that one is allowed until March 1st to make his returns. Those who have neglected to make their returns and who wish to avoid a penalty should do so before March first.

Calls On Chester Sheriff.

Sheriff J. G. Howze has received a telegram from Governor J. G. Rich with reference to enforcing the Sunday Blue Laws. It will be recalled that the Governor has recently launched a statewide campaign for the enforcement of the Old Sunday Laws. A bill has been introduced in the legislature to amend the present law, but has not yet been passed.

The telegram to Sheriff Howze reads:

In enforcement of Sunday Laws request that you observe these conditions: No sales of, soft drinks or other merchandise to be allowed. This does not apply to sales of Drugs, milk, ice or meat and to the sale of restaurants and automobile supplies to be sold in emergency cases only, this is determined by officers of the law. All sports and games are prohibited. Notify chiefs of police and magistrates in your county.

John G. Richards, Governor of South Carolina.

Missed His Mark.

Said a well known citizen: "I see the State Bank Examiner miss his mark when he attempted to close Ex-Governor McLeod as receiver of the bank he had in Columbia recently."

"You know McLeod appointed Pant by the bank examiner's job. Pant felt obligated to love the Ex-governor's job if the opportunity presented itself. Then, I noticed that Pant admitted transferring some twenty odd thousand dollars from the defunct Columbia institution to a bank at Belton and it was brought out that he owed the Belton Bank about $8,000 and that he was also a shareholder for former bank examiner Bradley on several million. Well, it's a great life these politicians down in Columbia lead."

An Aged Piece of Furniture.

Mrs. O. T. Culp recently brought to Fort Mill from the home of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Jeter, at Santee, Union county, an interesting piece of colonial furniture that has been in her family for more than a hundred years.

The piece of furniture is an old-fashioned stand of drawers, made of mahogany, which originally belonged to Mrs. Culp's great-grandmother and was taken from Fairchild county to Union county the close of the Revolutionary war by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Howell. The piece of furniture received ill usage at the hands of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Jeter, who was a soldier's aide at the close of the war when it was thrown from a second story window at the home of the great-grandmother and one of the legs was broken off and the front badly damaged. For years the stand had been stored in the garage at Mrs. Culp's mother's home and had become so rusty and soiled that it was a work of woodwork in shop in order to have the missing leg restored and the front mended over.—Fort Mill Times.

Mr. Nell Reddick, who is assisting at The Peacock Beauty Shoppe, has received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. C. Corley, of Columbia, full Friday and sustained a fractured hip.

Miss Hannah Nell, of Rock Hill, died at a hospital in Raleigh, N. C., early yesterday morning at the age of fifty-eight. Miss Nell was a native of the Steele Creek section of Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, but had resided in Rock Hill for many years. She was honored by a large number of friends. Interment was made in Rock Hill today.

Mrs. Jennie Groeschel, who has been present on several months here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Howell, the latter her daughter, left yesterday for Baton Rouge, La., for a visit to another daughter.—Rock Hill Record.

Born of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Riley, at Summerville, February 21st, a daughter.

Mr. C. E. Stiles, who has been operating the Carolina Inn in Chester for the past several months and his brother, Mr. J. C. Stiles, of Elberton, Ga., have leased the Fair Forest Hotel at Union recently erected at a cost of $124,000, and expect to get manna in the near future. Messrs. Stiles have recently bought the Robert S. Simmons, of Florence, has leased the Carolina Inn and assumed charge of this week.

A look at the records in the office of the County Treasurer would indicate that there has been quite a reduction in the number of dogs in Chester county during the past year. The treasurer urges those liable for the tax to pay same as a list of those who pay will doubtless be published.

Lavern, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Cassels, is ill with pneumonia at the home on Columbia street.

CHESTER BOY MAKES GOOD.

John Young, Making Good at Furman University—Has Made an Excellent Record—Expected to Study Medicine.

The News is in receipt of the following special dispatch from Furman University, at Greenville: John Perry Young, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Young, of York street, this city, is a member of the Senior class of Furman University, Greenville, S. C., and has made an enviable record in his four year's attendance upon that institution. He is a record that is accounted successful in athletics, student activities, and class work. He is a member of the Adolphian Literary Society and has taken active part in all its functions. John numbers his friends at Furman by the hundreds. Probably he, more than any other, has demonstrated what friendship will do for a man.

As a swimmer Young is unequalled at Furman University. He is the holder of several swimming trophies won both in the state and out, one of which he gained at Asheville, N. C., in the annual swimming meet of last summer. In track also, he has shown up exceptionally well. He is one of Furman's mainstays in the Yale and Princeton in a good number. In addition to this he takes active part in field events.

From the time he arrived at Furman Young has been a student of the highest order. Three years ago, his greatest ambition had been to become manager of the "victorious Purple Hurricane" and last fall he attained this distinction. Young made an excellent manager and it is to his untiring energy that the success of the Purple Hurricane is partly attributable.

However, John is not satisfied in his activities at all. Besides being a good student and a good student and one of exemplary conduct and character.

It is Young's intention to attend Furman University next session in order that he may take advanced work in science leading to a medical degree which he hopes to take in a Maryland institution in the near future. There are certain prerequisites for entry into the medical school which a Liberal Arts degree does not embody.

John's friends are confident that with his determination and energy, he will make a pronounced success in life.

A Delightful Banquet.

One of the most delightful and enjoyable banquets in Chester in recent months was that of the local Knights of Pythias held in the Sunday school room of the First Baptist church last night. This was the annual banquet and was attended by about 125 Knights, their wives and friends.

The supper was thoroughly enjoyed and was prepared by the ladies of the church.

Mr. Z. V. Davidson acted as toastmaster and was up to the usual high standard along this line. Judge David Hamilton made a short speech which consisted of much fun and also much that was of a serious nature, especially that part of his speech as to the raising of children in the home.

The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. D. W. Daniel, of Clemson College, well known throughout the county as an excellent after-dinner speaker. His subject was, "The Joyous Life." At times his talk was serious and at times it was very humorous.

Musical for the occasion was furnished by the Southern Serenaders, of Chester, E. M. and J. M. Cullough with a violin set, which was allowed to drop to the floor.

Mr. A. J. Hamilton was chairman in charge of the banquet and was complimented on the excellence in which he put the occasion over.

Considerable merriment was furnished when Mr. Davidson presented Paul Thacker, S. S. McCullough with a water set, which was allowed to drop to the floor.

A strong effort is being made to abolish the South Carolina Tax Commission and to place the duties of the office under the Comptroller General.

The News holds no brief for the South Carolina Tax Commission. There are times when the News has been of the opinion that the Tax Commission has assumed an autocratic attitude. The News does not favor the Tax Commission placing itself in opposition to the people who violate the tax laws without those people being given the opportunity to have a jury of their fellowmen. However, the News admits that any tax collecting body is an unpopular branch of the government.

The News fails to see the wisdom of abolishing the Tax Commission and placing the duties on another office. To use a common expression, it's the same "thing only different." And to place the duties of the Tax Commission upon the Comptroller General is to throw the whole thing into politics. The Comptroller General must go before the people for his votes and you know and I know there are certain large interests in South Carolina who will dictate to any Comptroller General who is charged with collecting the taxes now collected by the Tax Commission.

All admit that the Tax Commission is collecting nearly all the taxes due the office. It is admitted that they are being collected economical as compared with many other States. However, the Comptroller General's office did his office not sit idly by and let a Spartanburg county officer make away with millions of dollars? Has not the Comptroller General's office also let other county officers get by with large sums of taxpayers' money? Has not the Comptroller General's office let South Carolina's uncollected taxes prior to 1925 run up to more than four million dollars? If the Comptroller General is handling the affairs of his office in this manner do the people of South Carolina want to place the handling of another ten million dollars a year in his hands? Judging by past performance does it not indicate that millions would go uncollected?

As previously stated The News holds no brief for the Tax Commission but it fails to see the wisdom of making bad matters worse. Investigate the Tax Commission and correct the errors it is now making. Let the Tax Commission needs cleaning up, then clean it up. If changes are needed, and we believe there are, then change them, but don't take such action as will allow any politician to build up a political machine in South Carolina by showing favoritism to "the powers that be."

Comptroller General Beattie submitted a report to the South Carolina General Assembly showing that taxpayers of the various counties in South Carolina are now due and have failed to pay the counties more than four and one-half million dollars. This amount is for taxes due prior to 1926.

"This statement would certainly indicate that there is something radically wrong with the present system of collecting taxes in South Carolina. A great part of the amount above mentioned is long past due and those who owe the taxes are 'riding.'"

For one man to be forced to pay his taxes and another be allowed to let his tag along is unfair to say the least and it has been intimated that one of the main reasons for failure to collect the taxes due is due to certain officers throughout the State building up political machines. It has been intimated that in certain counties certain people can "get by" paying their taxes due to the fact that they pay amounts equivalent to the man charged with collecting the taxes. Things have come to a pretty pass in South Carolina when one man is forced to pay his taxes and another is allowed to "ride."

The collection of the four and one-half million dollars due in taxes would go along way toward reducing the taxes of those citizens who are paying their taxes. Spartanburg leads all counties in the State in past due taxes; the amount there being almost half a million dollars.

The report of the Comptroller General states that Chester county taxpayers are due the county for taxes prior to 1926 amounting to $25,087.72.

MUST STUDY FARM PROBLEM

It would be most unwise for railroad officials and industrial leaders not to see that the agricultural depression throughout the country is creating a spirit of hostility and adverse legislation. The farmers who are struggling under unfavorable conditions to make a bare living, and in many cases are failing to do even that, see the enormous special dividends which are being paid by some big corporations to see the growing prosperity of the railroads and pre-eminently those of the South, which are making more money by a whole than what have been deemed possible a few years ago, and they are beginning to feel that for all these interests are protected in one way or another by the National Government the time has come when the farmers have a right to demand some degree of protection from crops.

Specious arguments are many as to why the two situations are not alike, but the farmer will refuse to see anything but his poverty in contrast with the abundance of property of railroad and public-service and industrial interests. Moreover, there are a good many business men who feel that they are not getting a fair show in this division and who are likewise developing a growing spirit of ill-will to the present railroad freight rates. The storm which burst upon the railroads in 1905 and 1906, largely responsible for the passage of the Elkins act, was due to the unwisdom of railroad officials, from the highest down to the office boys in railroad offices. There has grown up among these people an indifference to public sentiment, which created a desire on the part of nearly everybody to take a club and whack the railroads, regardless of who was hurt by the clubbing.

That sentiment was very greatly responsible for the adverse legislation which well-nigh destroyed railroad property. Since then there has been a more respectful attitude toward the railroads, and especially during the last two or three years, but it would be very easy to imagine that the railroads create a hostility to railroad interests. Railroad officials need, therefore, to be as wise as serpents and as harmless as doves in studying this condition. They need the best psychology which they can develop to meet the public feeling, and they need to be in public favor by doing things which at times they might think unnecessary.

Some railroad officials probably berate the farmer's failure to diversify his crops or his lack of business methods in handling his crops. That is certainly shortsighted and it only needs a few statements of that kind, some of which have come to the Manufacturers Record, to arouse a very widespread hostility to railroad officials. In the interest of the country's prospering and in the interest of the railroads themselves, and in the interest of the great business concerns of the country, we would urge a very careful study of this whole situation, not so much by set committees, consisting in the main of people who know nothing whatever of the problem of the farmers, but by individual officers and business leaders going out among the farm population and finding out for themselves what are the difficulties which the farmers are facing.

President Coolidge recently appointed a committee to study the problem of the farmers, and there was not a single man on that committee who understood the cotton trade from any personal experience in connection therewith. Secretary Work recently appointed a committee to study the problem of the farmers, and there was not a single man on that committee who understood the cotton trade from any personal experience in connection therewith.

Railroad officials in every part of the land need to get acquainted with the farmers themselves and get in personal touch with the farmers, the tenants, as well as the landowners, and with unbiased minds make a careful investigation of everything bearing on farm life. The amount of information thus gathered would help to mold the thought of the country into some sane and sound line, dealing with our agricultural problem.

In a discussion of the generally accepted right of the public-service corporations to a fair rate of profit on their investment and the maintenance of freight rates at point which insure a profit to the railroads, the Waco Times-Herald says: "The man on the farm—how does this sort of thing strike him? Already increase in wages for those employed by public-service concerns may not give him the man on the farm—perhaps he may see in that a stronger demand for farm products. But if these public-service concerns, the railroads and the gas companies, and so on, are guaranteed a safe earning, might not that tend to provoke the man on the farm? Haven't we here the explanation of the demand on the Congress for farm-relief legislation? If the Congress can guarantee the rail and the busses and all the rest from 5 to 7 per cent on their investment, why shouldn't the Congress guarantee the man on the farm against losses? That's the question which promises to become paramount in the approaching campaign. Of course, from the Jeffersonian standpoint, the Government has no right to be meddling with either the wages of men or the earnings of capital; such matters are outside of Government. But having embarked to the extent of guaranteeing good wages to the men working in the industries and safe earnings to the industrialists, why shouldn't the agricultural community share in the largesse? What says Morris Sheppard? What says Earl Mayfield? What says Tam Connally? If the industrialists are to enjoy special privileges, why not also agricultural?—Manufacturers Record.

On his lack of being held the blame for the major ill that is aggravating and afflicting the human race, whether he has a thing in the world to do with or not. The Old World is now laying at his door the principal responsibility for the 19th century. As unhappy conditions in France have been unfolded one by one she has always pointed indignant finger at the 19th century. If there is unemployment in Great Britain, poor old Uncle Sam is berated and cursed about, from land's end to land's end.

Like Nations of both the Old and the New World have one by one taken a fling at him and said, "Just look at what he did to make himself a success. He is the only reason that Communism is not only a world success. France says the only reason she can't prosper is because he is sitting on her stomach. To all Latin-American States he is the ogre of the world who will some time club them to death. Undoubtedly he will be blamed with the flag which is now spread over its devastations through Europe. No matter what happens, anywhere, the blame is laid on Uncle Sam. He is picking up a nice collection of rare names. He was Skyles yesterday. He is Peck-snip today. And he is always the world's scapegoat. But Uncle Sam still whistles and sings as he keeps on sailing wild. Hate can never hurt him, for he never lets his step inside the door. —Charlotte News.

When anything happens to any of the peoples of the seas, they never seem to think it at all pertinent to examine into their own doings and wrongdoings to ascertain their own blame in the matter, but immediately and instantaneously pass the buck over to Uncle Sam, and instantly let it be known that he is to be censured for whatever turbotimes may have overcome them. Verily, a scapegoat is he!

CHILDREN'S ILLS

Arkansas Lady Says She Has Never Found a Better Laxative Than Theodor's Black-Draught.

Mineral Springs, Ark.—"We use Theodor's Black-Draught for our family of six children," says Mrs. C. E. Neff, of this place. "And we find it a good bowel regulator for all of our children for colds and constipation, and it certainly is very helpful. I never know it to fail them. Where there are so many children, it is a good idea to keep a laxative on hand, and Black-Draught is what we use."

"I have taken it myself for indigestion. I would feel dizzy have gas and not eat. I would not do it a night in my case. I took a 'good dose' of Theodor's Black-Draught when I felt that way and it would relieve me. I would feel better after that."

"My husband takes Black-Draught for indigestion. He says he has never found his equal. When he takes Black-Draught at night and morning for a few days and he doesn't come to bed, I give him a package of Black-Draught. Get a package of Black-Draught today. Costs only one cent a dose. MR. 172.
